

Foundation of DOLD Electric India

By founding a sales subsidiary in India Dold is looking to strengthen contacts with its Indian customers and intensify its activities in the market.

Dold & Söhne KG in Furtwangen has founded its subsidiary Dold Electric India, based in Vadodara.

Dold & Söhne KG is an internationally oriented medium-sized family owned company. It develops, manufactures and markets high-end solutions for electrical safety and safe automation in machine building industry.

The comprehensive product portfolio includes switchgear, safety relays with forcibly guided contacts, electronics enclosures, safety switch and trapped key interlock systems as well as wireless safety solutions.

The founding of the Indian sales subsidiary Dold Electric India represents a strengthening of the presence in India. With the Indian staff on the ground, contacts to existing customers can be intensified and the market developed to a greater extent. Indian customers are able to benefit in particular from Dold's broad product spectrum and professional service. The combination of a high level of production depth at the parent company and close local customer relationships with current and prospective customers makes customer specific solutions feasible too thus facilitating the provision of solutions for almost any application.
